As an individual filing for unemployment compensation, please be advised that:

- (1) Unemployment Compensation is subject to Federal Income Tax;
- (2) It may be necessary for you to make estimated tax payments;
- (3) Effective January 1, 1997, you must elect whether or not you want to have Federal Income Tax deducted and withheld from your unemployment compensation. As of August 7, 2001, the standard rate of deduction is 10% of your gross weekly benefit amount.
- (4) Upon written request, you may change your withholding election. Your request to change or terminate your election must contain your name, social security number, home address, and signature.
- (5) The effective date of your election is the date on which the department enters your election into its automated benefit system, and it only applies to payments made after that date.
